COVID Vaccines, Boosters and Monoclonal Antibody Therapy Offered at St. Bernard Parish Hospital

Research has shown vaccination is the best protection from hospitalization and severe illness caused by COVID-19. With the surge of the Delta variant and the newly discovered Omicron variant, vaccination, including a booster if eligible, is the key to stopping community spread, ending the pandemic.

The booster shot is intended to "boost" the initial vaccine series' long-term protection. A booster shot will help strengthen protection against severe disease or complications from severe disease due to COVID-19. The Louisiana Department of Health has approved Pfizer, Moderna and Johnson & Johnson COVID-19 vaccine booster shots for anyone 18 years or older meeting the following criteria:

- Completed the two-dose Pfizer or Moderna vaccine series six or more months ago
- Received the one-dose Johnson & Johnson vaccine two or more months ago

Eligible individuals may choose which vaccine they receive as a booster dose. Some people may have a preference for the vaccine type that they originally received, and others may prefer to get a different booster. If a patient prefers to receive a booster dose that is different from their original COVID-19 vaccine series, federal and state regulatory agencies support this choice.

While vaccination remains the most effective and highest recommended prevention against COVID-19 St. Bernard Parish Hospital doctors have seen great success with the use of monoclonal antibody therapy in early disease.

Monoclonal antibodies are laboratory-made proteins that mimic the immune system's ability to fight off viruses and are given to help patients before they can mount an immune response. In other words, they are designed to provide you with passive immunity to COVID-19 for a short period of time. When you become infected or are vaccinated against a disease, your body naturally produces antibodies to give you immunity. However, that typically takes weeks. Monoclonal antibodies are ideal-

The MRGO Bridge: Getting Closer to Repairs and Painting

After recently meeting with DOTD officials, State Representative Ray Garofalo was informed the contract to perform maintenance and repairs to the LA 47 MRGO Bridge is finally getting closer to becoming a reality.

The contract was originally scheduled to be let next March, but Garofalo says based on the inspection and planning work completed thus far, it is unlikely that this date will be met. However, DOTD believes that it is realistic the contract will be let before the end of 2022.

When the work is finally underway, Garofalo explained he specifically requested the contract require the contractor to keep one lane open in each direction during the work. The only exception to this will be that if one of the steel beams that spans the entire width of the bridge has to be replaced (and at least one requires replacement), then the contractor will be allowed to fully close the bridge, but only on weekends, and with significant advance notice to the public.

Garofalo acknowledged what everyone really wants to know is what color will the bridge be painted? "As of right now the decision on paint color is green," he says. However, he cautions there is one caveat, that being if the green paint is determined not to be as resilient as some other color, such as gray, then that decision may be overridden. "While I am strongly in favor of resiliency, I will continue to push for green."

DOTD will provide updates through 2022 to inform the public on the status of the project.

THE SCALISE CAPITOL REPORT

Standing Up For the Right to Life

I joined a pro-life rally on the steps of the U.S. Supreme Court to advocate on behalf of the unborn. The Supreme Court heard oral arguments in the Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization case, which could be the most significant Supreme Court decision about abortion since Roe v. Wade. I'm praying that the Supreme Court upholds Mississippi's pro-life law, and right the wrong that is Roe v. Wade.

Awarding Ponchatoula Student for Excellence in Civil Air Patrol Training

I had the honor of presenting the Earhart Award to Cadet Captain Jackson Fogelman of Ponchatoula for his exceptional leadership skills and commitment to serving his community through the Civil Air Patrol. The Earhart Award is the second-highest award in the Civil Air Patrol Cadet Program, and cadets who earn the award must live up to Amelia Earhart's standards of excellence. They must also pass comprehensive leadership and aerospace exams, as well as a rigorous physical fitness test.

Cadet Captain Fogelman plans to join the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve after graduating from high school this year, and I applaud him for his dedication to our community, our state, and our country.

ACT for ALS Bill Expected to Come to House Floor For Vote Next Week

It is great news that we were able to secure a House Floor vote next week on the ACT for ALS bill, and this is a strong step forward for so many people who are diagnosed with ALS. I am proud to be a cosponsor of ACT for ALS, and am honored to work with Steve Gleason, who also championed this bill as part of his tireless work to ensure people battling ALS have more opportunities when seeking treatment, cures, and independence to live their lives to the fullest.

That's exactly what this legislation does by advancing key research and advancing treatments, and this is a huge step forward to improve lives and inspire others to never give up.

It is an honor to represent you in Congress. For more information please visit my website, Twitter, Instagram, and Facebook pages.

God Bless,

Steve Scalise, House Republican Whip

Tips for Appealing a Decision from FEMA

If you applied to FEMA for disaster assistance after Hurricane Ida swept through Mississippi, you may have already received a letter of determination -- and maybe you do not agree with the finding. You have the right to appeal the decision.

Often, these letters are sent when your application is missing some information. Maybe you didn't show proof of who you are, or proof you own or rent your home, or proof you lived in your home for a major part of the year before the disaster.

Here are some tips for writing a letter to appeal a FEMA decision.

An important part of the process is knowing the deadline to plead your case: 60 days from the date of the determination letter.

FEMA might have said the application or assistance to you was ineligible, or that FEMA is holding off on deciding about your application. Often the reason is as simple as a lack of supporting documents or information. Read FEMA's letter from beginning to end to help you understand what the agency is asking you to do.

Your signed and dated appeal letter itself is not enough to get FEMA to reconsider its decision. You need evidence to support what you are claiming. You must provide the documents or information FEMA requests. Your appeal needs to be in writing.

Here's what to include with your letter:

- A copy of the FEMA letter saying you're ineligible for assistance, or that the agency didn't reach a decision, or the amount awarded that you feel is insufficient.
- Correspondence from your insurance company that shows you received just a fraction of what you need for repairs, not enough to help you temporarily move into another place, or not enough to replace certain belongings. Keep in mind that FEMA cannot give you an award for something your insurance company has already paid.
- A copy of a utility bill, driver's license, lease or rental agreement, bank statement, local school document, motor-vehicle registration, or employer's letter. All can be used to prove the damaged home or rental was your primary residence, meaning you lived there during a major part of the year.
- A proof of homeownership, like mortgage or insurance documents, tax receipts, deed, receipts for major repairs within the last few years, or a court document. If your papers were lost or destroyed, click on www.usa.gov/replace-vital-documents for information on how to replace them.

Sign and date your appeal letter. Don't forget to include your nine-digit FEMA application number on every page along with your disaster number (DR-4626-MS). Mail the package to:

FEMA National Processing Service Center, P.O. Box 10055, Hyattsville, MD 20782-8055, or fax it to 800-827-8112, Attention: FEMA

If you have set up a FEMA online account at www.DisasterAssistance.gov, you can upload the documents there.

You may receive a call or letter from FEMA asking for more information. Or FEMA may schedule another inspection of your home. In any case, you can expect a decision letter within 90 days after FEMA receives your appeal.

Ring In The Holidays At The Library

Lady Chops.

We're going to ring in the holidays at the St. Bernard Parish Library with the Arts... and the crafts! The library has two fun family events scheduled for the week of December 20th at its main location, 2600 Palmisano Blvd., in Chalmette. Bells will be ringing with glad tidings and lots of good cheer when Elizabeth Vidos, also known as, 'Lady Chops' performs on Monday, December 20th. She will present her new holiday show, "Here come the Bells, So Many Bells!" at 10:30 a.m. This free program is open to the public and has been made possible by a grant from the Louisiana Division of the Arts, Office of Cultural Development, Department of Culture, Recreation and Tourism, in cooperation with the Louisiana State Arts Council, as administered by the St. Tammany Commission on Cultural Affairs. Funding has also been provided by the National Endowment for the Arts, an Entergy Open Grant, a donation by Arlette and Wayne Nunez, and a matching gift from Shell Oil.

Lady Chops is a one woman percussion powerhouse. Her seasonal show is energetic, interactive, and fun for all ages. Participants will see and play cool instruments, learn fun facts, and rock the library with holiday hits! Lady Chops is a local legend among libraries. She was born and raised right here in southern Louisiana. She began her percussion career with pots, pans, spoons, and bongos. Her parents supported her desire to learn to play the drums by saying 'Yes' to lessons which led to Elizabeth's percussion dreams coming true. Following her college graduation, she traveled to New York to audition for a spot in the NYC Stomp Company. Her talents were recognized and she joined the group and toured the world with them for 10 years. Today, Lady Chops incorporates her percussion talents into her work as a Recreation Therapist for at-risk teens. She spends the rest of her time traveling across Louisiana visiting more than 80 libraries annually sharing her highly interactive drumming show, "Drum Roll Please" with kids of all ages.

Keeping the holiday spirit going will be the return of the library's traditional Christmas Craft Open House event. On Wednesday, December 22nd from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. families are invited to drop by the library to make and take seasonal crafts. Crafts are designed to be relatively frustration-free, but smaller children will need some grown-up assistance! All materials will be provided.

Events are currently scheduled to be in-person and held in the library's foyer. We are asking families visiting the library to be mindful of safe Covid practices. While masks are not required, they are strongly suggested as social distancing may be difficult.

The St. Bernard Parish Library is excited to share these two programs with its library families. Anyone with questions is invited to stop by the library or call us at 504-279-0448. Everyone is encouraged to like the library's Facebook page and to bookmark our website at mysbpl.org for updates.

ly administered within the first three to four days of the onset of symptoms and have been shown to be most effective when given in the first 10 days.

The treatment, under Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), is available in the outpatient setting by infusion or by injection— not by mouth. Subcutaneous injection, offered at St. Bernard Parish Hospital, is used as an alternative when infusion is not feasible or would cause a delay to treatment. Administration takes about an hour. Monoclonal antibody therapy has been approved for use in patients 12 and older and in both vaccinated and unvaccinated patients with mild-to-moderate COVID-19 symptoms that doctors feel will become more severe. It is not authorized for patients who are already hospitalized due to COVID-19.

While the results are encouraging, reducing hospitalization or death in non-hospitalized COVID patients by 70%, health care providers still recommend vaccination as a first and best defense. Monoclonal antibody therapy is not a substitute for vaccination. In fact, patients who receive monoclonal antibodies should get a COVID-19 vaccine 90 days after treatment.

Again, vaccination is the best defense against COVID-19. However, if you do contract COVID-19, talk to your health care provider early in your diagnosis to find out whether monoclonal antibodies are the appropriate course of therapy for you.

Monoclonal antibody therapy is available at St. Bernard Parish Hospital Monday through Friday, by appointment only. Patients must have a referral from a physician to receive this treatment. For more information or to make an appointment, please call 504-826-9500. COVID vaccines and boosters are also available.

Make your appointment online at MyOchsner.org or by calling 844-888-2772.

Academic Games Off To A Strong Start

Just as athletes are rewarded for their achievements on the field, Academic Games recognizes outstanding academic excellence. Recently, St. Bernard Parish Public School students convened at the Maumus Center in Old Arabi to compete in On-Sets, a math game based on Set Theory where each level of competition introduces increasingly more difficult mathematical concepts for the players.

When the scores were tallied, those with perfect scores for the three rounds of play were recognized and honored. This year's winners of the On-Sets tournament include:

Middle Division:

- Connor Dewey, grade 7, Andrew Jackson Middle School
- Maya Dufrene, grade 8, N. P. Trist Middle School
- Christian Miller, grade 8, N. P. Trist Middle School

Elementary Division:

- Ella Schroeder, grade 5, J. Davies Elementary School
- Preston Senez, grade 5, J. Davies Elementary School
- Bryce Watson, grade 5, J. Davies Elementary School

Learners Division:

- Aiden Buuck, grade 4, Arabi Elementary School
- Grace Dewey, grade 4, Lacoste Elementary School
- Autumn Higgenbotham, grade 4, Lacoste Elementary School
- Tyler Nata, grade 4, Arabi Elementary School
- Brayen Nation, grade 4, Arabi Elementary School
- Deylah Pritchard, grade 4, J. Davies Elementary School

Tournament organizer Gena Asevado said competitors must blend skill and strategy to succeed.

"Playing Academic Games forces you to think creatively, critically, and quickly," she said. "It also challenges students to use higher-order thinking skills in each of the games."

Asevado said the return of in-person competition is a welcomed one. She was also quick to credit the coaches for their continued efforts in getting their players tournament ready.

"We are happy to have students compete in person again. It truly is a team effort, and we look forward to the rest of the season as we gear up for our national tournament this spring."

St. Bernard Parish Public School System Congratulates This Year's District-Wide Teachers of the Year

A trio of outstanding educators was recently named as the district's parish-wide Teachers of the Year. Alecia Desselle of Chalmette Elementary School, Heidi Scharfenstein of St. Bernard Middle School, and Justin Templet from Chalmette High School were chosen by a panel of judges to represent the district in the upcoming regional competition for Louisiana Teacher of the Year.

Desselle, a fifth-grade math and science teacher, is a 7-year classroom veteran. A great motivator and role model, Desselle is an active part of the school and a positive influence on its culture. She is the cheer coach, the sponsor for 4-H and the garden club, and a member of the district's diversity board. She said that education equity is a passion and appreciates her school family who recognizes the importance of teamwork. "Each child has a heart and mind ready to be molded," she said.

Heidi Scharfenstein, an eighth-grade ELA teacher, is a graduate of the Teach St. Bernard Alternative Certification program. After years in the private sector, Scharfenstein joined her sisters by becoming a certified teacher in St. Bernard Parish. She said she is so happy to be in the classroom and works to help every child. "The thoughtfulness and attention to detail that goes into helping students reach their goal is a skill that teachers must adapt, constantly keeping in mind that EVERY student — no matter the background or demographic — is of equal importance and deserves as much opportunity as the next child."

Templet is this year's parish-wide High School Teacher of the Year. He teaches tenth and eleventh-grade English III, AP Language and Composition and has been working at his alma mater for five years. In addition to his classroom duties at Chalmette High School, Templet sponsors the school's literary magazine and co-sponsors the drama club and the ambassador program. He also works as an English instructor at Dillard University through Educational Talent Search. He refers to each of his students as a Templet Teen. "With that title comes the personal responsibility to ensure that each high school student in my room is provided with the individual means with which to succeed."

Superintendent Doris Voitier said she appreciates the community leaders who served on the panel to select this year's winners. "The judges told me how impressed they were with each of our nominees," she said. "I think this is a testament to the incredible work taking place in all of our schools. In a time when attracting and retaining good teachers is crucial, these school winners represent the best of the best. We are proud of each of them and congratulate our three district-wide winners who will represent us well in the regional competition."

Each of our Teachers of the Year are pictured with Doris Voitier, Superintendent of St. Bernard Parish Public Schools.
